Angelica has over 25 years of experience delivering innovative business solutions empowered by emerging technologies to various industries, including Pharmaceutical, Banking, Retail, CPG and Healthcare. She is an innovator, visionary and strategist. She holds an MBA from the Executive Program of Goizueta Business, a BS in Computer Engineering and Computer Science, and a BA in Music. She is also the Entrepreneurship Award Recipient for the Executive MBA Class of 2010. Angelica is creative. She is the founder and CEO of two startups: ZippyAR, a technology company creating a niche in the Digital Media and Messaging space, and Bold Living Wear, a fashion brand for those living a life of distinction, courage, and determination. ZippyAR was one of the 2016 finalists of Atlanta Mobile Awards together with brands such as Coca-Cola, AT&T, and IHG. Angelica is determined. She left her work at PepsiCo Brazil at the age of 30 years, to come to the US and immerse herself in an English program at Boston University with the goal of obtaining an MBA and starting her own business. She was awarded her first patent acting as her own lawyer and has other pending patents with the USPTO. Angelica is a social-environmentally conscious citizen. She cares about global issues and the environment. She is bilingual, lived in Brazil, Asia and resides in the US. Angelica is personable. She is the mother of two GEN Z sons and to others adopted by heart. She is involved in her community and founded and coached a community-led FLL robotics team receiving state-level awards. She was one of the founders of Foresight Development, a 501 C3 organization providing a home and education for children formerly living in prison with a parent. Most important, Angelica is purposeful in empowering women and creating a legacy for future generations: a world with peace, justice, and opportunity to all.
